Speech

Speech

Is magic.

Thought > Meat > Air > Thought

- Production
  - Speech is flapping bits of meat around in your head and throat while you expel air.
- Perception
  - Speech perception is turning the resulting vibrations in the air back into language, into meaning.

Waves → Meaning

- The Human is a discerning individual.
- Parsing
  - When we're familiar with the categories in a language, that affects our perception strongly
  - Categorical perception (ask me about it later!)

Speech Perception

- Listeners perceive speech categories on a continuum
  - Language specific
  - Individual Experience

Ladefoged & Broadbent, 1957; Nygaard & Pisoni, 1998; Niedzielski, 1999; Hay & Drager 2006; Scharinger et al. 2011; Sumner, Kim, King, and McGowan, 2013; McGowan, 2015; Beddor, Coetzee, Styler, McGowan, Boland 2018

Speech Perception

- Listeners perceive speech categories on a continuum
  - Language specific
  - Individual Experience
- Variation in speech is useful to listeners
  - We use our knowledge of the categories to make decisions about which sounds are which.
  - Organize newly encountered variants with talker-specific information

Voices are Socially Informative

Scharinger et al. (2016)

- ❖ Age & Gender, then Race
- ❖ Early (“Hello”)
- ❖ Without Attention

Voice Matters

- ❖ We use our voices to convey a wealth of information about our intentions.

Discrimination

In every sense.

- ❖ Picking out two different things (here we care about sounds)
- ❖ Treating someone differently based on social knowledge you have about them

US Housing

- Always been separated along color and class lines

Dialect Discrimination

- Discrimination is, legally, an act that can occur only in physical proximity.

When you open your mouth to speak, you reveal your identity,
not merely your ideas.

Dialect Discrimination is insidious

- Dialect identification happens in a moment
- Happens outside the space of canonical, legal discrimination

Landmark Study Purnell, Idsardi, & Baugh (1999)

“Given that discrimination according to race or national origin is illegal under the Fair Housing Act and the Civil Rights Act of 1968 as amended, we seek to demonstrate that the identity of race (or national origin) is reflected, not only visually but also auditorily in an individual’s speech. In addition, we endeavor to establish that listeners hear and positively identify a speaker’s dialect with great accuracy. The following experiments reveal the possibility of auditory discrimination and the probability of social discrimination by auditory identification of dialects. Auditory cues thus comprise a significant factor in establishing evidence in effecting a prima facie case where the Fair Housing and Civil Rights Acts are involved.”

Taken Together

Preliminary Results

- Listeners heard three distinct speakers
  - Dialects and races distributed as expected
- Listeners heard three different people

This Matters.

- 190 years of racialized housing discrimination
- People accurately hear social information
- People make judgements based on voice alone
- Property owners care about how you sound

This Matters.

“Accent is the first point of gatekeeping.”

-Rosina Lippi-Green

- ❖ Hispanic English-learners
  - More likely to work in high risk professions
  - Deaths and injuries rose 86% from 1992-2006
- ❖ Two women detained at the MN border for speaking Spanish

Anytime you have to open your mouth to accomplish a task, linguistic discrimination is at play.

We need to become more aware that Sounding Non-Standard is not about ignorance or laziness.
